

which went into effect in this city a month ago, is still on, with no immediate prospect of settlement.

Philadelphia Peaceful.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 28.—May day, which marks the beginning of the year in labor circles, promises to be a peaceful one in this city with little friction between workmen and employers. With few exceptions, the agreements under which the union men are working are acceptable, and trouble is not anticipated.

Fear May-Day Trouble.

PARIS, April 28.—With a view to coping with the May-Day demonstrations, M. Lepine, the prefect of Paris, will have an audience to-morrow of the commanders of the regiments stationed in this city. He has decided to give final instructions that the entire garrison be confined to barracks on that day or be posted in strategic positions as to be in readiness for trouble. Reports received up to this time do not indicate that there will be serious disturbances.

PITTS WANTS HIS BRIDE.

Gets Writ of Habeas Corpus and Will Make Fight.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, Va., April 28.—Claiming that his intended bride, Carrie Haigh, nineteen years old, and an orphan, was being forcibly restrained by those who were not her friends, and that he might marry her, Frank H. Pitts has appeared for a writ of habeas corpus, and the writ has been granted. The petition for the writ was filed before Judge Portlock of the Norfolk County Circuit Court, through Attorney Daniel Coleman. The writ was granted, and the alleged custodians of Carrie are commanded to produce her body before the judge on Tuesday morning, and to show the cause of her capture and detention. The writ is directed against Bertram Haigh and Edward Haigh and wife.

HONDURAN COLONEL FRED FROM ARMY.

Insult to British Flag Almost Led to Duel at Ship-side.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Mail advices received at the Navy Department give the details of the experience of Commander Fullam, of the United States ship Marietta, with Colonel Luis Isaula, a Honduran revolutionist, in the service of the Nicaraguan army, because of his having insulted the British flag at Port-au-Prince, a leveler at Ensign McNair, and ordered his guards to cover the boat's crew with Winchester rifles, and then attempted to come ashore at Tela, Honduras, April 11th, which was referred to briefly at the time the events happened. Commander Fullam found it necessary to deal sternly with the revolutionist, the outcome being an apology, which was not satisfactory, and the subsequent dismissal of Isaula from the army by Juan J. Estrada, commander-in-chief of the Nicaraguan forces.

Called Him a Traitor.

The correspondence discloses some interesting facts. Isaula justified his action because of his love of country, but Commander Fullam did not hesitate to call him a traitor because Isaula at that time was in arms against the United States. He further told him that by reason of his conduct he would be treated as an enemy of the United States, and frankly stated that Ensign McNair would have been justified in shooting him on the spot. The fact that the British man-of-war was not present to resent the insult to the British flag, says Commander Fullam, in one of his letters to Isaula, was all the more reason why the United States should take prompt action of the fact and demand an immediate apology. In unmeasured terms, Commander Fullam made it plain to the revolutionist that lives and property of all foreigners would be protected to the utmost. Isaula at first wrote a labored explanation, which Commander Fullam rejected as insufficient.

Dismissed in Disgrace.

A second communication was no improvement on the first, so the matter was taken up with the commander-in-chief, and Isaula not only was dismissed in disgrace, but General McNair, in accordance with a demand by Commander Fullam, prohibited him from again presenting himself at Puerto Cortez, and he was officially reported to the officials of Nicaragua and the provisional government of Honduras as an avowed enemy of the United States, in order that they might understand his unfitness to hold any office where he may come in contact with foreigners.

The incident was brought to a close by the receipt by Commander Fullam of a communication from J. Ernesto Alvarado, military commander and president of governing council of Honduras, denouncing the conduct of Isaula, and pledging the highest respect for the United States.

HIT WITH BRICK: NEGRO KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

Richardson Wafer, colored, was mad with all the wrath last night, and he gave vent to his wrath before the residence of William Bailey, colored, 1826 Williams Street. Bailey did not like to have the sanctity of his home disturbed in such manner, and went out to expostulate with the other. Wafer objected to the interference, and picking up the nearest brick, hurled it at Bailey, striking him over the left temple, striking a deep groove in his hair. Bailey became unconscious as the result of the blow, and Dr. Jones, of the City Ambulance Corps, was called in. He took four stitches in the man's head, and then made him comfortable in his home.

Woman's Nature

Is to love children, and no home can be completely happy without them, yet the expectant mother must pass usually is so full of suffering, danger and fear that she looks forward to the critical hour with apprehension and dread.

Mother's Friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, and all unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event safely and with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "it is worth its weight in gold." $1.00 per bottle of druggists. Book containing valuable information mailed free.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

TAFT SPEAKS ON WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

Gratified That Religious Spirit To-Day Has Grown More Tolerant.

TELLS OF THE PRIAR LANDS

Greatest Opportunity for Influences of Association in New Possessions.

DAYTON, OHIO, April 28.—Secretary of War William H. Taft arrived in this city shortly after noon to-day in a special car over the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road, accompanied by his brother, Charles P. Taft, some personal friends, and escorted by Judge B. F. McCann, who had gone to Cincinnati as the special representative of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Luncheon awaited the secretary's arrival, and the succeeding time was employed greeting people and evading questions bearing upon political topics. The ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the new Young Men's Christian Association Building began at 2:30 this afternoon, and after singing, prayer and Scripture reading by the Rev. E. L. Shuey, at the conclusion Mr. Taft formally placed the relic box in the crypt prepared for it and sealed it. The secretary's address dealt mainly with the growth and purpose of the Young Men's Christian Association.

After the cornerstone ceremony Secretary Taft returned to Cincinnati, where he will deliver two, possibly three, addresses to-morrow. In the morning he will visit the University of Cincinnati, where he is a professor in the law school, and will deliver an address to the students. Later in the day he may visit the Chamber of Commerce for a short time. In the evening he will speak to the members of the Business Men's Club on "The Panama Canal."

Secretary Taft's Address.

At to-day's ceremony Secretary Taft said:

"The great advantage of the institution is that, after long experience, it has come to be conducted on the most approved business principles. Another characteristic of the association is its nonsectarian religious quality. We are all more tolerant to-day than formerly. I never was as fully conscious of this fact as when the question arose, which has been recently actually in the Philippine Islands, in regard to the continued ownership of a large body of agricultural lands by certain religious orders of the Roman Catholic Church. The solution which offered itself was that the government should buy these lands from the friars and the present tenants. It was thought wise to send a representative to Rome to confer with Leo XIII. upon this question, in order, if possible, to bring about a friendly and amicable solution.

"The President, after conversing with representatives of the leading religious denominations, counted upon the good sense and the religious tolerance of the people of the United States, and concluded to follow the ordinary business principle that when one wishes to accomplish a result he should deal directly with the person having the power actually to agree upon the result desired, and a representative was sent. The business after much negotiation both at Rome and Manila, was finally concluded, and no persons were more considerate of the difficulties presented and sympathetic with the policy adopted to meet them by the President than the Protestant denominations, whose opposition had been feared.

More Tolerant Now.

"I venture to think that fifty years ago such a result would not have followed, and that the motives of the government and of the President would have been misunderstood or misconstrued. I regard that as one striking instance of the growth in religious tolerance, and the extension of the Christian denominations and a brotherhood that finds no more eloquent proof than the continued prosperity and the growth in influence and power of the Young Men's Christian Association, which dedicates this building to-day.

"Nowhere is the opportunity for usefulness of the Y. M. C. A. greater than among Americans in the Philippines, Porto Rico, Cuba, and on the Isthmus of Panama. It is inevitable that a great many of the Americans who go first to our tropical dependencies, a long distance from the United States, should be wandering and irresponsible.

Woman's Nature

Is to love children, and no home can be completely happy without them, yet the expectant mother must pass usually is so full of suffering, danger and fear that she looks forward to the critical hour with apprehension and dread.

Mother's Friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, and all unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event safely and with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "it is worth its weight in gold." $1.00 per bottle of druggists. Book containing valuable information mailed free.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

RESCUED CREW AS SHIP FOUNDERED

Suffered Tortures, While Passing Vessels Denied All Help.

THE LUCIFER A WRECK

Founded Just After Men Were Picked Up by the Steamer Sagami.

PAUMOTU, April 28.—The British steamer Sagami, from New York April 12th for Rotterdam, arrived here to-day and landed the crew of the British tank steamer Lucifer, bound from New York for Dublin, which was abandoned in latitude 40.19 north and longitude 60 west, and later foundered.

The sufferings of the crew of the Lucifer and the danger of the situation were greatly increased by the holocaust during the whole time. Heavy seas constantly washed the vessel's decks. Signals of distress were hoisted in the daytime, and rockets and flares were burned at night. The crew was amazed that two steamers which were sighted—once of them within a mile of the Lucifer—procured without attempting to render assistance, for it seemed impossible that they did not see the signals.

The oil pumped out of the Lucifer somewhat moderated the fury of the seas, but even after the Sagami was sighted the rescue was effected with considerable difficulty and danger, and occupied about five hours. The men lost all their belongings. They were taken off just in time, for an hour later the Lucifer foundered.

The rescued sailors are full of gratitude for the captain of the Sagami, and declare that only those who saw the heavy seas running can realize what risk she ran in launching a boat to go to their assistance. The men never had their clothes off and scarcely slept during the whole time. When they had a little leisure they played cards on deck in order to keep up their spirits.

FINAL MEETING.

Tech Society Ends Season With Enjoyable Session.

The final meeting of the season, held Saturday night by the Richmond Technical Society in the auditorium of the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, was largely attended. The feature of the business session was the election of Messrs. Bascom J. Rowlett and Eddie L. Jones to be presidents of the opposing sides for the ensuing year. The society then heard encouraging addresses by the presidents.

After the meeting all repaired to Guth's, where the members were entertained. Mr. J. C. Newlon was elected toast-master, and was ably assisted by Messrs. James H. and Rowlett. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

Valuable Property for Sale.

A number of auction sales of real estate are announced for this week. Between now and Saturday not fewer than twenty valuable pieces of property will be placed under the hammer.

RESCUED CREW AS SHIP FOUNDERED

Suffered Tortures, While Passing Vessels Denied All Help.

THE LUCIFER A WRECK

Founded Just After Men Were Picked Up by the Steamer Sagami.

PAUMOTU, April 28.—The British steamer Sagami, from New York April 12th for Rotterdam, arrived here to-day and landed the crew of the British tank steamer Lucifer, bound from New York for Dublin, which was abandoned in latitude 40.19 north and longitude 60 west, and later foundered.

The sufferings of the crew of the Lucifer and the danger of the situation were greatly increased by the holocaust during the whole time. Heavy seas constantly washed the vessel's decks. Signals of distress were hoisted in the daytime, and rockets and flares were burned at night. The crew was amazed that two steamers which were sighted—once of them within a mile of the Lucifer—procured without attempting to render assistance, for it seemed impossible that they did not see the signals.

The oil pumped out of the Lucifer somewhat moderated the fury of the seas, but even after the Sagami was sighted the rescue was effected with considerable difficulty and danger, and occupied about five hours. The men lost all their belongings. They were taken off just in time, for an hour later the Lucifer foundered.

The rescued sailors are full of gratitude for the captain of the Sagami, and declare that only those who saw the heavy seas running can realize what risk she ran in launching a boat to go to their assistance. The men never had their clothes off and scarcely slept during the whole time. When they had a little leisure they played cards on deck in order to keep up their spirits.

FINAL MEETING.

Tech Society Ends Season With Enjoyable Session.

The final meeting of the season, held Saturday night by the Richmond Technical Society in the auditorium of the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, was largely attended. The feature of the business session was the election of Messrs. Bascom J. Rowlett and Eddie L. Jones to be presidents of the opposing sides for the ensuing year. The society then heard encouraging addresses by the presidents.

After the meeting all repaired to Guth's, where the members were entertained. Mr. J. C. Newlon was elected toast-master, and was ably assisted by Messrs. James H. and Rowlett. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

Valuable Property for Sale.

A number of auction sales of real estate are announced for this week. Between now and Saturday not fewer than twenty valuable pieces of property will be placed under the hammer.

EXPOSITION FOLK TAKE SUNDAY REST

(Continued from First Page.)

settlement, having three available houses capable of accommodating as many as forty or fifty people. Mr. Wise, when asked about his plans for the summer, said: "It looks as if the railroad is going to destroy the section of our country home. Of course, I can't complain, for it adds greatly to its value, but I cannot help feeling regret at the destruction of our privacy. At any rate, we shall have one more jolly summer there. We shall do our best to make the Jamestown celebration by giving our friends a sample of Virginia hospitality, and it looks as if this would be our last opportunity there. With our children and grandchildren, there are now eighteen of us. One of my sons and his wife and my daughter and her husband, all in the army, are about starting for home from the Philippines, and will have their leaves just at the right time for a fine family reunion this summer. We can take care of at least thirty people comfortably, and propose to do so this summer. I look forward to this as to be one of the happiest summers of my life, with my family about me and entertaining our friends. After that I fear that, with the advent of the railroad, the glories of 'Kiptopeke' as a place of retirement, will be at an end. I shall probably have to cut the farm up into town lots, for the site is not only the most beautiful spot on the peninsula, but with the railroad running to it, it will probably become a railroad town, and one of the most popular winter resorts upon the Atlantic coast. I have always loved this place better than any spot on earth, because of its attractive features for portmen and the wonderful wealth of song-birds and flowers. With all the advantages of Florida, it is within nine hours of New York."

But, as it is, the illumination of the opening night, which displayed the most gorgeous pyrotechnic display ever attempted that there is positively no comparison.

Slit His Lip.

John Rucker (colored) thought he bore a grudge against George Jackson, also colored, watching him from the pen on Ohio crossing, and perhaps he did. Anyway, he whipped out his knife and slit George's lip from the nose to the mouth. The doctor sewed up Dr. Jones, of the city ambulance corps, who was called in.

CRANK DIDN'T SEE PRESIDENT

Claimed to Be Rough Rider, but Was Quickly Ordered Away.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION, Va., April 28.—According to C. B. Peyton, assistant chief of detectives at the Exposition Grounds, there were but two incidents during the visit of the President at the Exposition which were out of the ordinary. He has accompanied him on most of his important trips for the past five years.

Two strangers, one claiming to be a member of the Rough Riders, and the other evidently a crank politician, endeavored to force their presence on Mr. Roosevelt, but in both cases they were thwarted.

Just before President Roosevelt began his address a man in rough civilian clothes made his way to where Detective Peyton was standing, and asked him if he would arrange so that he (the stranger) could shake the hand of the Chief Executive. Mr. Peyton asked him who he was, and the stranger replied that he was a member of the Rough Riders during the Spanish-American War, and that he was with the President in the Cuban campaign. The detective distrusted the stranger, and told him that he could not get closer. He searched him on the spot, and, not finding a revolver or other weapon in his pockets, took him to the edge of the crowd and told him to go away. The man did not return.

Later the detective was warned by a suspicious looking stranger that he had been following the presidential party all day. The stranger was pointed out to Mr. Peyton, and the detective shadowed him for an hour or more, and finally accosted him. He claimed to want to see the President on political matters. Mr. Peyton sized him up as a political crank, and after ascertaining that he had no weapons concealed on his person, took him to the edge of the crowd and bade him to leave. The stranger did not reappear during the day.

SCENE GRAND ON HAMPTON ROADS

Belching of Cannon a Feature Unlike That Seen Before.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION, Va., April 28.—There have been many fierce conflicts upon the waters of Hampton Roads, but the belching of cannon and hissing, bursting shell—the deadly combat between the Monitor and the Merrimack in 1862—was nothing compared with the scene enacted on these historic waters on the night of April 26, 1907. The burning of Rome, the destruction of the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum were no doubt grand; but they were also terrible. The scene upon Hampton Roads was grand beyond the power of pen to describe, while it was absolutely devoid of the terrible.

Placidly lying at anchor on Hampton Roads when the sun went down on the evening of the 26th of April were American and foreign war vessels, in solid but friendly phalanx, covering a distance of not less than ten miles. As darkness settled over the face of the waters, a few lights flickered here and there, subdued by the silvery moonbeams that fell on the shimmering sea land and sea. The treatment of death-dealing, iron-clad monsters were dimly outlined until, at a given signal, about 7:30, every ship blazed forth in lines of electric fire. It was so sudden and so grand that the silence of the thousands upon the waters and shores of the city was broken to a deep to be expressed in word or deed.

Three East Broad Street

THE NELSON SHOE

$2.50 For Men and $3.00 Women

Made in Our Own Factory

The cut shows a new Button Oxford. Three large buttons. Best patent vamp, full calf top. Good weight sole, with modish extension. High Cuban heel. A swell Oxford for all occasions.

Swellest Shoe Store in town.

We make every pair of Men's and Women's Shoes we sell in our own factory, and sell them direct to the wearer in our own store. That's why there's no sold at $2.50 and $3, saving you a dollar on every pair.

BF621X $3.00

WEAR A NELSON SHOE AND SAVE A DOLLAR

The Nelson Shoe Co.,

3 East Broad Street, Manufacturers.

STORES IN PRINCIPAL CITIES. J. O. KIRK, Jr., Manager.

was the illumination on the night of the 26th, it is only the initiative of the greater and grander scenes that will follow when the government piers are finished, and the system of submerged harbor illumination is installed.

But, as it is, the illumination of the opening night, which displayed the most gorgeous pyrotechnic display ever attempted that there is positively no comparison.

Slit His Lip.

John Rucker (colored) thought he bore a grudge against George Jackson, also colored, watching him from the pen on Ohio crossing, and perhaps he did. Anyway, he whipped out his knife and slit George's lip from the nose to the mouth. The doctor sewed up Dr. Jones, of the city ambulance corps, who was called in.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Tomlin Anderson.

The unexpected death from pneumonia at an early hour yesterday morning of Mrs. Mary Tomlin Anderson, wife of James H. Anderson, of No. 64 East Franklin Street, is one of the saddest that has occurred in this city. Mrs. Anderson was the daughter of the late Colonel John B. Young, who, with his wife, formerly Miss Fannie Braxton, of Charlotte, was widely known and honored. Mrs. Anderson was a devoted wife and mother, and was much beloved by her relatives and friends as was Mrs. Anderson, whose kind and gracious manner and sweetness of character endeared her to all who knew her. She was born and raised at Westbrook, the old home of her parents, near this city, which was later on owned by Major Lewis Ginter.

Mrs. Anderson was educated at Richmond schools, and spent all her married life in this city, where her numerous friends and kindred now mourn her death. She was a devoted wife and mother, and was much beloved by her relatives and friends as was Mrs. Anderson, whose kind and gracious manner and sweetness of character endeared her to all who knew her. She was born and raised at Westbrook, the old home of her parents, near this city, which was later on owned by Major Lewis Ginter.

Rawley Forbes.

Mr. Rawley Forbes, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Forbes, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of his parents, No. 806 West Franklin Street, in the twentieth year of his age.

Mr. Forbes was recently graduated from St. Paul's School, Garden City, New York. He entered the firm of W. H. Forbes & Co., of this city, and had been engaged since last June. He was born October 13, 1887, and was a young man of much promise, well known in the city, and a member of the city of Richmond, and exceptionally popular. About ten days ago he was taken with pneumonia, which disease, with complications, resulted in his death yesterday afternoon. He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Arthur P. Ripley and Mrs. F. D. Hotchkiss, Jr., and two brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard S. Forbes and William P. Forbes.

William A. Copridge.

Mr. William A. Copridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel A. Copridge, died at the residence of his parents, No. 1821 Hanover Street, this city, about 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

Young Mr. Copridge was born in Pittsylvania county, Va., on November 10, 1877, and was, therefore, in the thirtieth year of his age. He was married on January 25, 1905, to Miss Callie Weaver, of Hartsfield, Floyd county, Va., daughter of Mr. Harvey Weaver, of Richmond, and Mrs. W. H. Weaver. He remains will be carried to Roanoke, Va., where his father was formerly in the heating and contracting business. The funeral will be held at the city section there this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Miss Christiana Harris.

Miss Christiana Harris died at her home, No. 202 East Main Street, at 8 o'clock last night. She was the third daughter of the late Henry and Mrs. Ann Harris, of Powhatan county, Va. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Dr. Charles G. W. Macgill.

Dr. Charles G. W. Macgill died at his home in Cliftonville, Md., early this morning after an illness of some months.

Dr. Macgill was very widely known, and news of his death will be a source of much sorrow to his friends. Since the death of a daughter a short time ago he had been suffering rapidly. He was a devoted husband and father, and a devoted friend. He was the son of Dr. J. Charles Macgill, three daughters, Mrs. George T. M. Gibson, Mrs. E. Stanley Curry, of Baltimore, and Mrs. D. W. Drewry, of Cliftonville, Md.; three sons, Mrs. Clifford Cabell Bridges, of Ashland, Va.; Mrs. E. D. Drewry, of Cliftonville, Md.; and one brother, Colonel James Macgill, of Pulaski.

at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, aged six years and ten months.

The funeral will take place from St. Patrick's Church at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, and the interment will be made in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Captain J. A. McLaughlin.

Captain James A. McLaughlin died yesterday at his residence, No. 510 North Tenth Street, at 4:30 o'clock. The funeral will take place from the residence at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Giles B. Thomas.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 28.—Mrs. Giles B. Thomas died at an early hour yesterday at her home on Stone Valley, five miles from Blacksburg, brief funeral service was held this morning at her home, conducted by Rev. D. J. Woods, after which the body was brought to Blacksburg and buried beside those of three sons and a daughter, who have preceded her to the grave.

Mrs. Thomas was Miss Matilda Caroline Meek, a member of a large family living in the town of Burks Garden, Tazewell county, Va. In 1859, being sixteen years old, she was married to Mr. Giles B. Thomas, of Montgomery county, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on their farm, where she died. A woman of rare piety, Mrs. Thomas was noted for her devotion to the Presbyterian Church, and her acts of kindness and charity. She bore her long illness with gentle patience and a bravely, and from that time until her death her life was spent in Blacksburg and on